CLASSICS THEATER

Classics Theater is an engaging online platform that offers a nostalgic cinematic experience through a curated selection of iconic films shown each month. Users can easily browse and book their favorite movies from a visually appealing homepage, which displays detailed tiles including movie posters, ratings, and showtimes. The platform enhances user convenience with a comprehensive booking system, allowing customers to select showtimes and ticket quantities with ease. Confirmation of bookings is simple, ensuring a hassle-free experience from selection to viewing, making Classics Theater the perfect destination for classic film enthusiasts.

DEMO LINK

Demonstration Video

Classics Theater System

Trace Crafton

Customers can easily browse shows throughout the remainder of the year and book tickets at any time.

The webpage follows each selection made by the user while reducing the chances of input errors.

Available showings are automatically determined depending on the month selected by the user.

Class Diagram

The class diagram below indicates how the various components of this system interact with one another.

Photo 1

The first image shows the Classics Theater homepage. Users can select a movie to view and continue forward with booking.

Photo 2

The second image is the booking page. After users select a showing date, they will be brought to the last page that generates the times available for that date, then users can confirm their ticket booking.